This Month's Style Spotlight

WHAT THE STYLISH LOCALS ARE WEARING

Because newsletters are easily sent online, you can weave all of your important and latest services in one go. Include daily updates or a weekly round-up that's composed of concise information about the nature of your business. Whether you're in tech or the entertainment industry, craft interesting content that your customers will enjoy at first glance.

For a newsletter that people will look forward to receiving, align the look and feel of your design with your brand's identity. Write quality content and add matching images. You might also want to reward users for signing up, or include polls and surveys to gather useful data.

Remember: this is a powerful marketing tool that can benefit both you and the reader, while providing them with valuable information about your business. Use it well, from sharing informative blog posts or announcing upcoming events, product launches, and company milestones. When you're ready to send out your newsletter, review your copy and edit it accordingly.

AUTUMN COLLECTION

A newsletter is a regularly distributed publication that is generally about one main topic of interest to its subscribers. Newspapers and leaflets are types of newsletters.

Newsletters are published by clubs, churches, societies, associations, and businesses—especially companies—to provide information of interest to members, customers, or employees. Google's definition of a newsletter is, "a bulletin issued periodically to the members of a society business, or organization."
